Murders in Brussels

Books series by Bou Bounoider

Born in Brussels in the late 60s, the author takes us to the Belgian capital of crime. What more logical for Bou Bounoider to imagine a novels' series based in his native city in which bloody crimes are committed by a strange organisation? Take the lead of the investigation and try not to be the next victim on the list!

Bou Bounoider - writer

Bou Bounoider was born on November 15, 1968. After a hectic childhood he decides to go to university to study gymnastics for which he was graduated with pride and success. His multiple travels around the globe and his humanitarian missions are source of inspiration.

Episode 4 - Uccle

What is currently happening in Uccle ?

Doctor Bertrand is officially assisting lieutenant Guido on the multiple murders committed in a few of the Brussels suburban cities. Most importantly he is also taking the role as gardian angel of M. Parisse seriously. An exhibition is organized in Uccle but will not take place as initially planned. The team of lieutenant Guido has no other choice than to expand due to unexpected events. The wife of doctor Bertrand is assisting them by resolving longtime forgotten and unsolved cases. What's next?
